CommitteeInterest: Planning Commission "Alternate" position, as described on the Mayor's August 27, 2009 press release.

I have a very deep interest in city planning and urban design, especially in relation to Rapid City. I have much to offer the Planning Commission in terms of drive, vision, knowledge and creativity. My experience includes a combination of graduate level urban design coursework, extensive travel (both short- and long term, foreign and domestic), real-world architectural practice, and continual interest in the subject. I believe I am the perfect candidate for this position.

Education: Suzanne Iudicello Martley has more than 20 years experience in environmental policy and natural resource management. Her areas of expertise include environmental impact assessment, stakeholder engagement, policy analysis and environmental conflict resolution. She has extensive legislative and regulatory experience at the state and national level, both in policy and regulatory analysis and advocacy. She has worked for the Alaska legislature and Alaska Governor's Washington, D.C. office, and with national advocacy groups on reauthorizations of the National Environmental Policy Act, and numerous environmental laws. For the past decade her work has emphasized finding collaborative solutions by engaging stakeholders in problem solving. She has served on a federal task force developing guidelines for ecosystem-based approaches to resource management, on a National Academy committee on Cooperative Research, and served on the design committee for the Heinz Center's State of the Nation's Ecosystems report. She is an alternate member of the Black Hills National Forest Federal Advisory Committee. A journalist and editor for newspapers and magazines, Iudicello has authored and co-authored numerous articles and four books, and wrote the chapter on international fisheries law in the March 2008 edition of Ocean and Coastal Law and Policy published by the American Bar Association. She received her B.A. in political science from Wilson College and her J.D. from the National Law Center at George Washington University.

Involvement: Co-Founder, Project Sustainability, SDSU; Brookings, SD Aug 2007-Sept 2008: Acted as lead publicity person for a group I helped create on the campus of SDSU to raise awareness of sustainability issues. Also, organized and staged 3 major events, plus many smaller events, to educate students and faculty alike. One major accomplishment was creating a pilot recycling program now being run by student organizations.

Design Chair, Plain Green Sustainability Conference, Sioux Falls, SD Jan 2008 - Sept 2008: My involvement on the planning committee was a direct result of my success with the Project Sustainability group. The well attended conference was held last September (and again in April of 2009) to discuss green design issues and was the first of its kind in the state.
