

Request for Proposals for Rapid City Area Origin and Destination Study

The Rapid City Area Metropolitan Planning Organization (RCMPO) in conjunction with the South Dakota Department of Transportation (SDDOT), the Federal Highway Administration (FHWA), and the Federal Transit Administration (FTA), is soliciting proposals from transportation planning consulting firms to perform an Origin and Destination Study in the Rapid City, South Dakota Metropolitan Planning Area.

Background:

The Rapid City Area Metropolitan Planning Organization (RCMPO) has issued this Request for Proposal (RFP) in an amount not to exceed $75,000 for the Rapid City Area Origin Destination Study. The Origin Destination Study will gather information on the travel behavior of people who make interregional trips. The data will be used to validate and calibrate the regional travel demand model, which RCMPO maintains as part of its federal requirements as the Metropolitan Planning Organization (MPO). The MPO includes the following agencies: Rapid City, Box Elder, Summerset, and Piedmont, Ellsworth Air Force Base, the unincorporated areas of Black Hawk and Rapid Valley, and the developing areas of Pennington County and Meade County. This includes the existing urbanized area and the area which is projected to become urbanized within the twenty year horizon of the Long Range Transportation Plan. Based on 2010 Census data, as well as the building permits from May 2010 through December 2012, the Rapid City Area MPO's population is estimated at approximately 107,000. Rapid City's population is estimated at approximately 70,000.

The regional travel demand model is a traditional trip-based, four-step model that runs on the TransCAD® platform. It includes detailed transportation networks, as well as a geographically based Traffic Analysis Zone (TAZ) layer containing socioeconomic data for Pennington and Meade Counties. The model is currently calibrated and validated against average daily traffic (ADT) counts, vehicle miles traveled (VMT), trip length distributions and screen line counts. Although recent model output has performed reasonably well in replicating ground truths, additional data should further enhance the model's performance relative to local travel characteristics. The origin destination study will specifically provide data that will be used to improve the trip generation and trip distribution of the model.

Study Expectations:

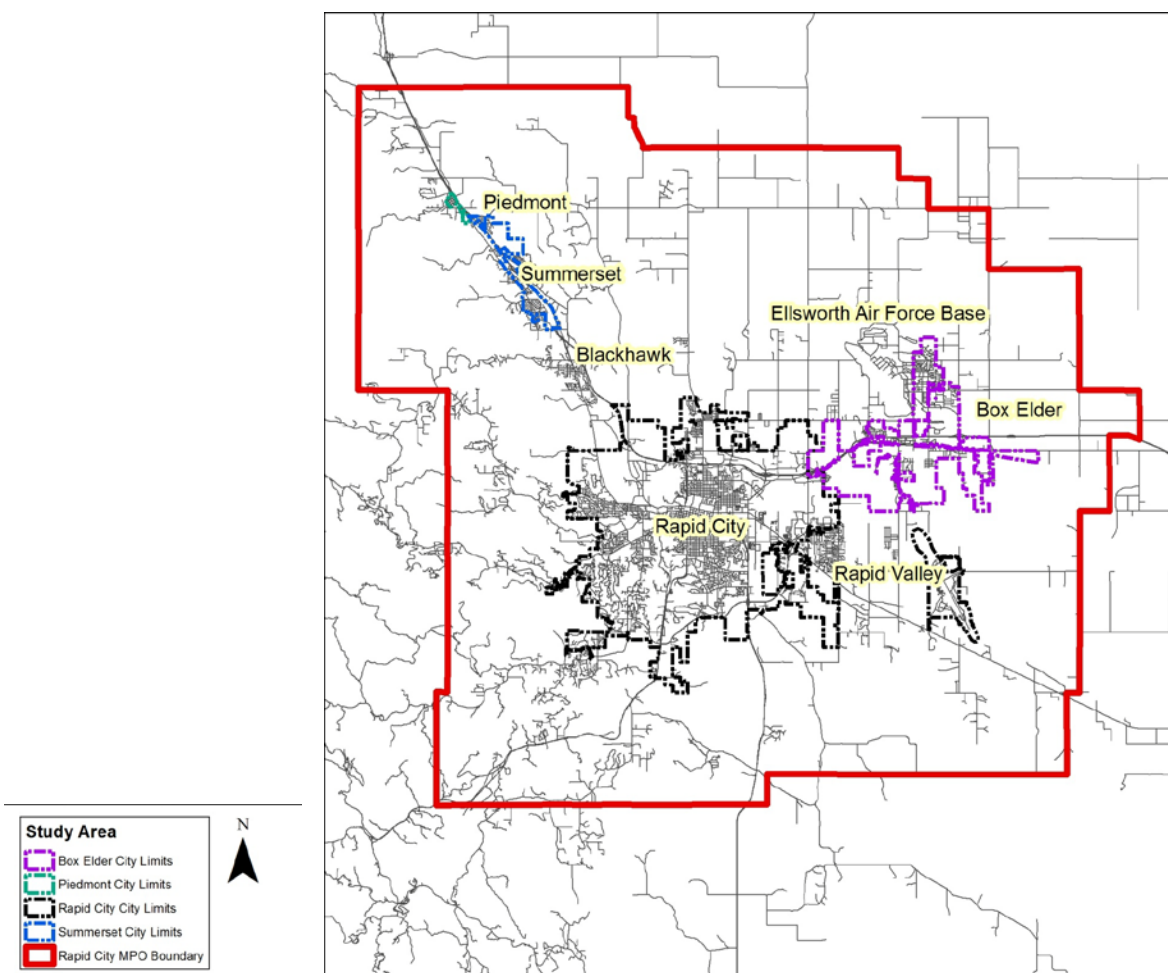

The study is expected to fulfill the following objectives that will allow the MPO to update the model as follows:

1. Trip Matrix: the number of trips and types of trips between TAZs— data may include: for a specific day of the week, for an average day, average week, average weekday, average weekend day, for specific times of a day such as in the AM/noon/PM or between certain hours, for a specific type of trip (home-work, work-home, home-other, other-other, etc.), the TAZ where trips began, the TAZ where trips end, internal-internal trips, internal-external trips, external-internal trips, and external-external trips.

2. Arrivals and Departures: the number of trips that go to, or come from, a specific TAZ by time of day – geographically, by purpose and by population group.
3. Home-Work Matrix: the number of people who live and work in specific TAZs.
4. Select Zone Analysis: the number of trips and types of trips that go to, or come from, a specific TAZ and where those trips began or ended - percent coming directly from home, percent coming directly from work, arrival and departure time profiles, distance traveled, home location density map, and percent of people traveling from other states.

Area of Study:

The area of study includes the Cities of Rapid City, Box Elder, Summerset, and Piedmont; the Ellsworth Air Force Base; the unincorporated areas of Black Hawk and Rapid Valley; and the developing areas of Pennington County and Meade County.

Scope of Study:

The study needs to include, but not be limited to, the following tasks:

- 1) Methods and Assumptions: The consultant shall facilitate a meeting to determine the assumptions to be used during the course of the study. Resulting from that meeting, the consultant shall develop a Methods and Assumptions Document in accordance with the Methods and Assumptions Template for SDDOT Planning Studies. (attached)

Sampling/Survey Plan: The consultant will propose, in writing, a detailed sampling/survey plan for review by RCMPO. The consultant will incorporate sampling technology that will have limited impact on the operations of the local facilities. Acceptable methods for sampling include the use of cell phone data, Bluetooth, license plate video/photo, and/or electronic readers. Following such review, the consultant will refine the methodology and schedule as appropriate.

If necessary, the consultant will work with local agencies to obtain necessary permits and to solicit additional input regarding the project. The consultant will work closely with these agencies relating to the logistics of conducting the survey in the most effective and least intrusive fashion.

The core elements of field surveys that must be addressed are 1) sample selection, 2) site selection, and 3) sampling procedures. The survey plan must adequately address all such elements.

- 2) Conduct Origin and Destination Study: Conduct a statistically valid origin-destination survey for trips in the Rapid City metropolitan planning area for a minimum of 24 hours per data collection period without impeding the flow of traffic. The study should work with the existing traffic analysis zone (TAZ) structure that is used in the travel demand model. The study team believes this data will need to be collected from approximately 290 TAZ's and upwards of 16 external stations to handle trip-making to/from areas outside of the modeling area. Additional station locations may be needed to fulfill all data requirements to properly calibrate the traffic model. At a minimum, this data gathering activity is to occur over a one week period when the local high schools are in session and an average weekend day. Data captured over a 30 day period is preferred. It may also be useful to have data collected over a period of time before and after the tourist season begins. The consultant will collect a sufficient number of data to yield robust, representative, and statistically reliable results for the study. The consultant shall be responsible for coordinating all field data-collection activities. The consultant will compile, organize, and work with the data. The consultant is also responsible for working with operations and designated personnel of the concerned agencies, as appropriate, to ensure that the survey and counts are conducted with due consideration to operations logistics. During the conduct of the surveying, the consultant will immediately report any major problems (e.g., concerns raised by operations personnel, personnel problems, complaints, etc.) to the RCMPO.

3) Final Report: The consultant will prepare a final report about the Origin and Destination Study. The report will include a stand-alone Executive Summary and will also include sections concerning:

- project objectives;
- study methodology;
- survey method;
- design of survey instruments;
- summarized results; and
- appendices—all tables and numerical results summarized for each survey location.

These findings will be presented in predominantly a graphical and narrative format for each location, with tabular data (frequency distributions and cross-tabulations) used sparingly in the report but extensively in report appendices.

4) Project Deliverables: The consultant shall provide the following items to the RCMPO contact person:

- ◆ Study Updates in word processing format (Microsoft® Word) or as Portable Document Format (Adobe® .pdf) of the study's progression due January 20, 2014, March 10, 2014, May 12, 2014, and June 9, 2014. If the study completion date needs to be extended, study updates will be expected around the 15th of every other month beginning on September 30, 2014 until submittal of the draft final report.
- ◆ All data that will be uploaded to TransCAD in the appropriate format, such as in Excel or CSV files.
- ◆ All necessary GIS shapefiles (ESRI ArcMap® *.shp) in State Plane coordinate system (NAD 1983, South Dakota South) compatible with Meade and Pennington Counties' existing coordinate system.
- ◆ An electronic copy, in word processing format (Microsoft® Word) and Portable Document Format (Adobe® .pdf), of the draft final report and executive summary.
- ◆ Fifteen (15) printed copies of the final report and executive summary
- ◆ An electronic copy, in word processing format (Microsoft® Word) as and Portable Document Format (Adobe® .pdf), of the complete final report and the complete executive summary.
- ◆ Copies of any pertinent working papers and electronic files created during the project.

After the Staff's review of the draft reports, the RCMPO's contact person will advise the consultant as to its acceptability and will request any changes that may be desired. The executive summary and final report shall be due to RCMPO's contact person seven (7) days prior to the study's completion date.

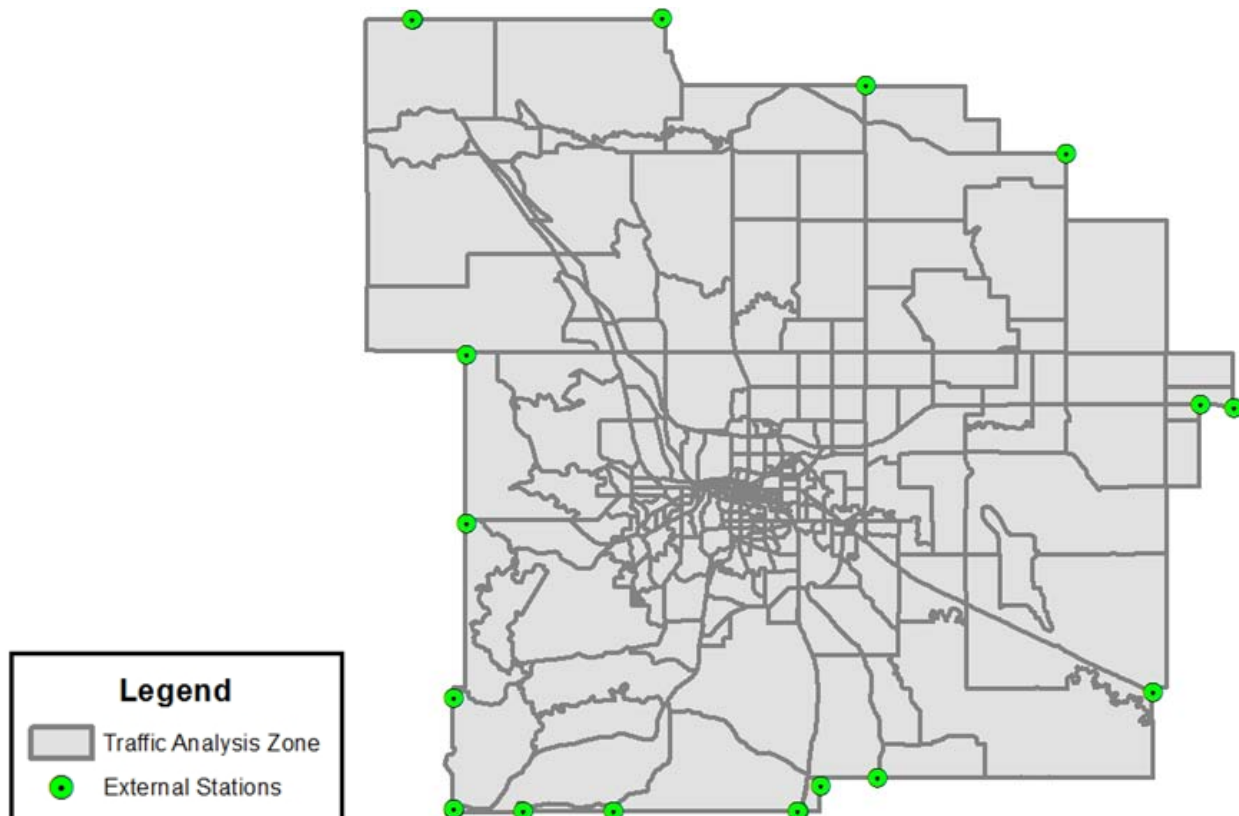

Available Information:

The following will be made available to aid the selected consultant in performing the study if the consultant deems them needed:

Proposal Guidelines and Requirements:

Each proposer must demonstrate in their proposal that they have the professional capabilities needed to accomplish this study. The proposal should contain all information relevant to indicate the consultant team's abilities to successfully complete this study and give the study advisory team a better understanding of the consultant team's qualifications.

At a minimum, the proposal should contain the following:

- Statement of Study Approach: Describe the approach the consultant proposes to accomplish the study.
- Proposed Study Team Members: Provide a written description of the consultant team composition, including disciplines, primary role in regards to the study, and relevant experience. The information provided must clearly indicate the consultant team's point of contact, the team leader for the study (if different) and the responsible party in each firm who will be providing the required professional experience.

Provide a table showing the number of person-hours (not percentages of time) that will be devoted to each task by consultant team members. List the names of principal investigators and other key professionals who will be involved. Support personnel may be identified by classification. If subcontracting is necessary, include subcontractors' key personnel and support staff in a separate table. Clearly identify subcontractors' involvement.

Describe current commitments to other work in sufficient detail to permit assessment of each consultant team member's ability to meet the proposal's commitments. Include a statement that the level of effort proposed for principal and professional members of the study team will not be changed without written consent of RCMPO.

- Individual Experience: Provide a description of the background of key members of the consultant team and their specific participation in previous projects that would directly relate to the work planned to be done for this study. This may be done in descriptive text or in resume format.
- Study Schedule: Provide a graphic or text calendar to define the proposed study schedule for tasks and set milestone dates.
- Budget: Show the estimated cost for the entire study by RCMPO fiscal year. RCMPO's fiscal years run from January 1 through December 31. A sample budget is shown below.

 2. Must be in accordance with 49CFR Part 1B
 3. Only if normally treated as a direct cost

If the proposal includes effort by subcontractors, a similar budget table should be included for each subcontractor.

Out-of-state travel, which is defined as travel between the consultant's base and destinations other than South Dakota, must be identified separately. All travel between the consultant's home base and South Dakota should be recorded as in-state travel.

Indirect costs listed in the budget must be substantiated if and when the proposal is selected. Prior to the first contract payment, the successful proposer must submit documentation supporting the bases and rates used to calculate indirect costs by the prime contractor and each of the subcontractors. Examples of indirect cost schedule formats can be found in Chapter 9 of the AASHTO Uniform Audit & Accounting Guide located at: <http://audit.transportation.org/>.

Total funding should not exceed the amount indicated as "Funds Available" on the Request for Proposal. This amount represents what RCMPO feels the study merits and what level of funding should be necessary to complete the work. Proposers should set the scope and depth of study accordingly. Because of budget constraints, additional funding is highly unlikely. No budget expansions should be anticipated.

Community Planning and Development Services

Professional Services Agreement
Scope of Services
Rapid City Origin and Destination Study

The study needs to include, but not be limited to, the following tasks:

- 1) Methods and Assumptions: The consultant shall facilitate a meeting to determine the assumptions to be used during the course of the study. Resulting from that meeting, the consultant shall develop a Methods and Assumptions Document in accordance with the Methods and Assumptions Template for SDDOT Planning Studies.

Sampling/Survey Plan: The consultant will propose, in writing, a detailed sampling/survey plan for review by RCMPO. The consultant will incorporate sampling technology that will have limited impact on the operations of the local facilities. Acceptable methods for sampling include the use of cell phone data, Bluetooth, license plate video/photo, and/or electronic readers. Following such review, the consultant will refine the methodology and schedule as appropriate.

If necessary, the consultant will work with local agencies to obtain necessary permits and to solicit additional input regarding the project. The consultant will work closely with these agencies relating to the logistics of conducting the survey in the most effective and least intrusive fashion.

The core elements of field surveys that must be addressed are 1) sample selection, 2) site selection, and 3) sampling procedures. The survey plan must adequately address all such elements.

- 2) Conduct Origin and Destination Study: Conduct a statistically valid origin-destination survey for trips in the Rapid City metropolitan planning area for a minimum of 24 hours per data collection period without impeding the flow of traffic. The study should work with the existing traffic analysis zone (TAZ) structure that is used in the travel demand model. The study team believes this data will need to be collected from approximately 285 TAZ's and upwards of 10 external stations to handle trip-making to/from areas outside of the modeling area. Additional station locations may be needed to fulfill all data requirements to properly calibrate the traffic model. At a minimum, this data gathering activity is to occur over a one week period when the local high schools are in session and an average weekend day. Data captured over a 30 day period is preferred. It may also be useful to have data collected over a period of time before and after the tourist season begins. The consultant will collect a sufficient number of data to yield robust, representative, and statistically reliable results for the study. The consultant shall be responsible for coordinating all field data-collection activities. The consultant will compile, organize, and work with the data. The consultant is also responsible for working with operations and designated personnel of the concerned agencies, as appropriate, to ensure that the survey and counts are conducted with due consideration to operations logistics. During the conduct of the surveying, the consultant will immediately report any major problems (e.g., concerns raised by operations personnel, personnel problems, complaints, etc.) to the RCMPO.

3) Final Report: The consultant will prepare a final report about the Origin and Destination Study. The report will include a stand-alone Executive Summary and will also include sections concerning:

- project objectives;
- study methodology;
- survey method;
- design of survey instruments;
- summarized results; and
- appendices—all tables and numerical results summarized for each survey location.

These findings will be presented in predominantly a graphical and narrative format for each location, with tabular data (frequency distributions and cross-tabulations) used sparingly in the report but extensively in report appendices.

4) Project Deliverables: The consultant shall provide the following items to the RCMPO contact person:

- ◆ Study Updates in word processing format (Microsoft® Word) or as Portable Document Format (Adobe® .pdf) of the study's progression due January 20, 2014, March 10, 2014, May 12, 2014, and June 9, 2014. If the study completion date needs to be extended, study updates will be expected around the 15th of every other month beginning on September 30, 2014 until submittal of the draft final report.
- ◆ All data that will be uploaded to TransCAD in the appropriate format, such as in Excel or CSV files.
- ◆ All necessary GIS shapefiles (ESRI ArcMap® *.shp) in State Plane coordinate system (NAD 1983, South Dakota South) compatible with Meade and Pennington Counties' existing coordinate system.
- ◆ An electronic copy, in word processing format (Microsoft® Word) and Portable Document Format (Adobe® .pdf), of the draft final report and executive summary.
- ◆ Fifteen (15) printed copies of the final report and executive summary
- ◆ An electronic copy, in word processing format (Microsoft® Word) as and Portable Document Format (Adobe® .pdf), of the complete final report and the complete executive summary.
- ◆ Copies of any pertinent working papers and electronic files created during the project.

After the Staff's review of the draft reports, the RCMPO's contact person will advise the consultant as to its acceptability and will request any changes that may be desired. The executive summary and final report shall be due to RCMPO's contact person seven (7) days prior to the study's completion date.

Where any information required of a contractor is in the exclusive possession of another who fails or refuses to furnish this information, the contractor shall so certify to the South Dakota Department of Transportation, or the Federal Highway Administration as appropriate, and shall set forth what efforts it has made to obtain this information.
- (5) Sanctions for Noncompliance: In the event of the contractor’s noncompliance with the nondiscrimination provisions of this contract, the South Dakota Department of Transportation shall impose such contract sanctions as it or the Federal Highway Administration may determine to be appropriate, including but not limited to:

- (a) withholding of payments to the contractor under the contract until the contractor complies, and/or
 - (b) cancellation, termination or suspension of the contract, in whole or in part.
- (6) Incorporation of Provisions: The contractor shall include the provisions of paragraphs (1) through (6) in every subcontract, including procurements of materials and leases of equipment, unless exempt by the Regulations, or directives pursuant thereto.

The contractor shall take such action with respect to any subcontract or procurement as the South Dakota Department of Transportation or the Federal Highway Administration may direct as a means of enforcing such provisions including sanctions for non-compliance. Provided, however, that, in the event of a contractor becomes involved in, or is threatened with, litigation with a subcontractor or supplier as a result of such direction, the contractor may request the South Dakota Department of Transportation to enter into such litigation to protect the interest of the State, and, in addition, the contractor may request the United States to enter such litigation to protect the interests of the United States.

Methods and Assumptions Process Template for Planning Studies within a MPO

The Methods and Assumptions (M&A) process is the formalized practice of developing and recording the data criteria, data assumptions, data collection procedures, data analysis methodologies, and data measures of effectiveness that will be needed in a federally funded planning study. This process only pertains to planning studies utilizing Federal Statewide Planning & Research (SPR) and/or MPO Planning (PL) funds where the SDDOT has oversight.

The M&A process is to be dynamic, and should be revisited when changed conditions warrant. The process should result in the highest level of success for SDDOT and MPO planning studies by providing for an early agreement on details and documentation of the processes, dates, and decisions made by the study analysis team.

The process consists of two steps:

1. The Methods & Assumptions Meeting
2. The Methods & Assumptions Document

Methods and Assumptions Meeting

A Methods and Assumptions meeting is to be held near the beginning of the study, usually after the study's kick-off meeting. The meeting shall be held prior to beginning any traffic analysis and preferably prior to any traffic data collection by consultant forces. The meeting is to be organized by the consultant (or the responsible agency if being done in-house) and attended by at least one member from the Study Advisory Team representing a signatory agency to the Methods and Assumptions document. The meeting shall discuss the proposed traffic analysis tool(s) and approach to be used, the study area, time period(s) for analysis, traffic data availability and collection need, planning design year, opening date (if known), travel demand forecasts, baseline conditions, planning design year conditions, measures of effectiveness, and model calibration confidence level.

If the study involves the creation of an Interchange Justification Report (IJR) and/or Interchange Modification Justification Report (IMJR), the meeting should also discuss how much detail will need to be included in each of FHWA's eight policy points for Interstate access modification.

Methods and Assumptions Document

The Methods and Assumptions document will be developed as a summation of the Methods and Assumptions Meeting and also serves as a historical record of the process, dates, and decisions made by the study team at that meeting.

The following information should be part of a Methods and Assumptions Document. The document shall provide sufficient detail and clarified with graphics, tables, maps, analyses, and supporting documentation when necessary. The document shall meet the satisfaction of all signatory parties. The consultant team shall not proceed with any study activities beyond data collection until receipt of a fully signed Methods and Assumptions Document.

1. Methods and Assumptions Cover Page

The Cover Page shall at a minimum contain the Study Title, the Author(s)'s Name and Firm(s), and the date of the Methods and Assumptions meeting.

If the Methods and Assumptions document needs to be amended, the cover page should, in addition to above, show the amendment number and the amendment date for each amendment.

2. Stakeholder Acceptance Page

"The undersigned parties concur with the Methods and Assumptions for the <Title of Study> as presented in this document."

If the Methods and Assumptions document needs to be amended, the stakeholder acceptance page shall include another set of signature blocks led by the statement:

"The undersigned parties concur with Amendment <#> to this document."

The following notes, if agreed by the Methods and Assumptions meeting participants, may go at the bottom of the signature page:

(1) Participation on the Study Advisory Team and/or signing of this document does not constitute approval of the <Title of Study>'s Final Report or conclusions.

(2) All members of the Study Advisory Team will accept this document as a guide and reference as the study progresses through the various stages of development. If there are any agreed upon changes to the assumptions in this document a revision will be created, endorsed and signed by all the signatories.

3. Introduction and Project Description

The document should begin with a description of the study and include:

- Background Information,
- Location,
- Need for Study,
- Study Schedule,
- Facilities that will be affected by the study,
- Previous Studies,
- Study Advisory Team members,

This section should also define the complexity of the study.

4. Study Area

The study area defined by the Study Advisory Team in the Request for Proposal document shall be discussed and verified at the Methods and Assumptions meeting. The Methods and Assumptions document will clarify the study area boundaries on a map and include a written description of affected interchanges, intersections and streets. The document shall identify specific intersections and interchanges within the study area that will be analyzed and to what level.

5. Analysis Years/Periods

Design / Operational analysis should be included for existing conditions (base year), any interim periods (as defined by the Study Advisory Team), and the planning design year (should be at least a planning horizon of 20 years) for design periods including AM and PM peak periods and any other special periods (such as special events) if relevant. The years shall be discussed and documented. For studies with a known project construction year (such as an IJR / IMJR study), the planning design year shall be a minimum of 20 years from the project construction year.

6. Data Collection

The data believed to be necessary for successful completion of the study should be discussed at the Methods and assumptions meeting. The Methods and Assumptions document will:

- Describe what existing data is readily available and the source(s) of the data.
- Document and justify what data will need to be collected.
- Document and justify when the data will be collected.
- Document and justify the methods of data collection to be used.

7. Traffic Operations Analysis

Describe what software and version will be used for analysis or modeling of traffic operations. The most recently released version of any software as of the date of the Methods and Assumptions document's creation should be used.

Document what analysis variables will need to be collected and verified and which analysis variables will use data defaults. Document and justify the value of the data default to be used.

8. Travel Forecast

Document what regional traffic model or trend line analysis will be used to take into account historical/projected growth rate, describe the methodology and process to be used in developing the forecast and the calibration/validation efforts that will be used (including benchmarks). Also, describe if these models are in the process of being updated at the time of publication of the methods and assumptions document. Document the assumptions that may be required if any of the regional models are in transition.

9. Safety Issues

Describe the time frame from which the crash data will be analyzed and deemed relevant to the report. And, identify other safety risks to be explored during the study.

10. Selection of Measures of Effectiveness (MOE)

Document which metrics will be goals for the study to accomplish. Target levels for each MOE used should be recorded.

If applicable, it should be noted which metrics and/or goals are to be for the entire study area and which metrics are for specific corridors and/or intersections.

11. FHWA Interstate Access Modification Policy Points

For when the study involves and/or results in an Interchange Justification Report (IJR) and/or Interchange Modification Justification Report (IMJR), a section should document the amount of detail the study will address for each of the eight (8) FHWA policy points regarding modifications to Interstate access.

12. Deviations/Justifications

Briefly discuss any potential known deviations from standards, why they may be necessary and the possible justifications that may be applied.

13. Conclusion

State why and how what is proposed will satisfy the study need.

14. Appendices

Include all supporting documentation, maps, and memos associated with the Methods and Assumptions meeting and/or document.
