RE: Rapid City Airport Waterline

To Whom It May Concern:

Terracotta homeowners have always struggled with water quality and quantity. We currently have about 35 homes and have development potential for another 35. However, with the current water situation we are barely able to provide existing homes with adequate water. We would not be able to service any additional properties.

We recently met with your Public Works office, engineers, DENR and Rural Community Assistance Corporation, RCAC, to discuss the airport waterline project and the possibility of tying into the Rapid city water system.

Regardless of the cost to the homeowners, we are in desperate need of a safe and sufficient water supply. Therefore we are giving our full support for the city to proceed with the proposed water expansion project.

Initial cost estimates for this project indicate that homeowners could face a monthly water bill in excess of $100 including a $65 surcharge. The homeowners ask the council to further assist us by waving the 150% water rates and not allowing the service charge to exceed the $65 mark.

We need your assistance and appreciate your consideration with our safe clean drinking water needs.

Sincerely,

Jim Bacon
Georgia Bacon, Sec/Treas.
