

PELLA® ENDURAGUARD™ WOOD OFFERS PROVEN RESISTANCE. For wood, depend on a leader — Pella wood windows and patio doors offer proven resistance to water penetration¹. Here's the difference — Pella's exclusive EnduraGuard triple-protection formula, together with our immersion-treatment method, creates stronger protection on every exterior wood surface of your windows and patio doors. This innovation provides advanced protection against moisture, stains and decay caused by mold and mildew, as well as termite damage. You can rest assured that Pella wood windows and patio doors will look beautiful and perform beautifully for years to come.

SUPERIOR PERFORMANCE

- Pella's EnduraGuard wood protection has three active ingredients for better protection.
- Plus, it has greater than 4X the concentration of protective ingredients compared to major competitors.²

FIELD TEST RESULTS

Pella's Casement Window

A Competitor's Casement Window

Shown above: Field testing on the bottom rail of a Pella casement window sash and that of a major competitor after seven months of exposure to moisture. For testing purposes, the glazing seal on the bottom sash was broken in both units.

¹ In testing conducted pursuant to WDMA standard T.M.2-06.

² Based on the average measurement of retained active anti-fungal ingredients on sash and frames of major competitors using immersion treatment.
