Federal Aviation Administration (FAA)
Construction Management Conference
Bismarck, N.D.

Background:

The FAA scheduled a Safety Phasing Plan Conference on short notice for Friday, October 27, 2000.

The conference was for the airport construction administrators to discuss recent problems with construction projects and runway safety plans with FAA officials.

Travel:

The cost of travel is $ 1,504 for the airline ticket. This is a business class fare because travel is departing and returning during the business week. The decision to fly was made on the basis of loss of productivity driving 12+ hours, quality of life, and support of airline service since airlines have provided free airfare for us in the past and airlines pay for the cost of the ticket through rates and charges.
