The zone heater with a heart

Don't let its size fool you - the Garnet is a champion. It's a little heater with a big heart. A diminutive footprint, 11,000 to 17,000 BTU's per hour, and impressive design features combine to make this smallest member of the Quadra-Fire family perfect for the bedroom, den, or dining room. The Garnet is designed to be both attractive and economical, devoted to the zone heating concept - heat the space you're in, not the entire house. At up to 83% efficiency, the Garnet does the job exceedingly well, while providing a beautifully glowing and realistically detailed "wood" fire to keep you company. Its rear vent design and zero backwall clearance make it easy for you to place the Garnet against an outside wall in virtually any space you choose. And the convenience of gas means it's a breeze to operate. Available in standard metallic black and four radiant porcelain enamel finishes, it offers all the style and elegance of its larger brothers and sisters.
