MEMORANDUM

TO: Common Council

FROM: Allison Marsland, Assistant City Attorney

DATE: April 27, 2012

RE: Code Enforcement Board of Appeals and the Attendant Ordinance Amendments

Before the Council is a new ordinance, Rapid City Municipal Code ("RCMC") Chapter 8.01, which creates a Code Enforcement Board of Appeals (the "CEBA"). At the direction of the Mayor, the Code Enforcement Division has met with the City Attorney's Office over the last several months to draft an ordinance to create a CEBA. If passed, appeals of certain Code Enforcement determinations would be heard by the CEBA, rather than the Developmental Appeals and Review Board (the "DARB"). Certain matters were coming before the DARB that really would have been better suited for a board with the specific purpose of hearing appeals from Code Enforcement action. In addition, creation of the CEBA will provide the citizens of Rapid City with a board specifically tasked with hearing complaints regarding code violations within the territorial jurisdiction of the City of Rapid City, and within the subject matter jurisdiction of the CEBA.

Ordinance revisions of RCMC Sections 8.16.035, 8.16.050, 8.28.030, 10.56.060, and 10.56.065 are also before the Council. It was necessary to make changes to multiple ordinances in order to provide for proper reference to the CEBA, and to bring references to appeal time-frames in line with the appeal time-frame provided for in the CEBA ordinance.

An additional change regarding the definition of junk motor vehicles is also being brought forward at this time. The amendment to RCMC 10.56.010 amends the definition to include broken windows and/or windshields, in certain instances. This will allow the Code Enforcement Division to enforce the junk motor vehicle ordinances in instances where broken glass would pose safety issues to the public.

Staff recommendation is to adopt Chapter 8.01 to create a Code Enforcement Board of Appeals, and to adopt the ordinance revisions necessitated by the adoption of the CEBA.
